

Germany: No Direct Dialing Ins (DDI) for different customers!

Dear customer,

Please be advised that the German Regulatory Authority (Bundesnetzagentur) has changed their provisions for assigning service numbers: In the future different customers mustn't be provided with different DDIs of one single number, because in principle the portability of each service number has to be ensured. Of course it's still possible to implement a service number with DDIs for one customer in the future aswell.

Best regards,
Your Telequest-Team
